Anglicans Bid Farewell to Rev. A. S. Partington

Rector of St. Alban's and St. Luke's, With Wife and Daughters, Guests of Honor at Supper

On the conclusion of eight years ministry here, Rev. A. S. Partington, and Mrs. Partington and daughters Frances and Mary were accorded a farewell supper and presentation in St. Alban's parish hall on Monday evening, at which were present Rev. R. Axon, rural dean, of Macleod, Rev. and Mrs. Barlow of Brockton Indian school, and Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Bevan, of St. Paul's United church, Coleman. The gathering was under the auspices of the vestry and the Ladies Guild of St. Alban's.

A presentation was made to Mr. Partington, by the vestry, of a beautiful picture of "Crosses Near Mountain," and the Ladies' Guild made a presentation to Mrs. Partington, while the choir made presentations to Frances and Mary Partington.

Mr. Partington spoke on his eight years ministry here, and addresses were also made by Mr. Barlow, Mr. Bevan and Mr. Axon. A. L. Davidson was chairman. Mr. Partington expressed on behalf of Mrs. Partington and himself appreciation of the kindly wishes extended to them on their leaving Coleman for their new charge at Creston.

Col. R. F. Barnes in his usual gracious and humorous manner extended a vote of thanks to the ladies for the supper, complimenting them on their good work, not only as providers of the material things of life, but also in their faithful church work. Those contributing to the musical part of the program were Mrs. W. Jackson and Mrs. Blower, singing a duet; Donald Graham and Reggie McMullen, and Mrs. Walter Williams. Mrs. Clifford played the piano accompaniment.

Mr. Partington and family came here in 1930 from Taber, to minister to the parishes of St. Alban's and St. Luke's. His hobby has been gardening, and he improved the grounds of the rectory by building a rustic stone wall and cultivating a very attractive garden. As a stamp collector he has assembled a very nice collection.

Talking of Artificial Ice

S. A. Hunter, representative of Gorman's Limited, of Calgary, was here during the week, and in an interview with The Journal, stated that he would submit information concerning the cost and maintenance of an artificial ice plant for the rink. He stated he had heard talk of Coleman contemplating such a move. His firm installed the plant at Trail.

Emmerson and Balloch Head Football League

Delegates From B. C. Towns Met Here Sunday—Schedule To Be Arranged

The annual meeting of Crow's Nest Pass Football Association was held at the Grand Union hotel on Sunday. Delegates were present from Kimberley, Michel and Coleman. Joe Emmerson and A. Balloch were elected to the offices of president and secretary-treasurer, and James Park, vice-president.

Lethbridge Harlequins and Galt Miners will be invited to affiliate with the Crow league, providing they agree to play Sunday games. The league already consists of four teams, Coleman, Michel, Fernie and Kimberley. Another meeting will be called shortly to draw up the season's schedule.

LADIES STAGE SUCCESSFUL WHIST DRIVE

A whist drive was held at the St. Alban's parish hall, April 21st, Mrs. Ernest Hill and Mrs. Steve Penney being hostesses. 18 tables were in play, prizes being won by Mrs. M. Cooke, ladies' first; Mrs. B. Vincent, ladies' second; Miss J. Fauville, gent's first; Mrs. Walker, gent's second.

Receipts from Whist

$2 tickets sold at 35c	$28.70
Tickets for draw	9.95
Expenses for material for pillow cases	1.15
Outstanding ticket money	$37.50
Net	$36.80

The pillow cases were won by Mrs. W. Smith with ticket No. 30. The prizes and the lunch were donated by Mrs. Penney and Mrs. Hill, so that the entire proceeds of the whist drive were turned over to the vestry of St. Alban's church to help make up the deficit. Thanks of the vestry has been expressed in letters to the above ladies.

JOIN THE RED CROSS SOCIETY

One Dollar will make you a member of the Red Cross of Alberta for one year. Do not wait to be asked for it, send your dollar to Lt. Col. D. H. Tomlinson, Commissioner, Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, 17 Customs Building, Calgary.

Do you realize that membership in the society means you are doing your bit for crippled children in this province who cannot be helped in any other way.

The blanket raffish by the Boy Scouts was won by Mrs. J. Atkinson.

MINERVA Chapter O.R.S. will hold a whist drive on May 12, in the Italian hall.

It's easier to make a break than it is to mend it.

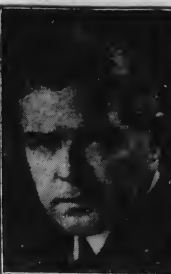

More printing orders for The Journal, more buying from Coleman stores. We all benefit.

His new parish is at Creston, in Kootenay diocese. Mrs. Partington was the guest of honor at a number of teas and parties given by ladies of Coleman and Blairmore during the past two weeks, and the family leave with good wishes of Coleman people, for success and happiness in their new field.

Some women never get homesick because they are not home long enough.

Sir Edward Beatty President of Canadian Pacific Railway

States Unification Only Solution of C.N.R. Deficits.

Strongly advocating the unification of the C.N.R. and C.P.R. systems to cut down the enormous deficit under which the government owned railways operate, the president of the C.P.R. has addressed representative organizations on the subject in various parts of the Dominion.

He will visit Alberta on Friday, May 13, when he will deliver the address at the graduation exercises of the University of Alberta, having been invited by his friend of college days, President Kerr, of the university. They attended the same university in eastern Canada.

Wage Schedule Of Miners Under Discussion

Operators Urge 10 per cent Reduction—Men Urge 10 per cent Increase.

At present in Calgary a board is discussing the wage scales for Alberta miners. The board includes Robert Livett, president of District 18 U.M.W. of A.; R. M. Young, of Camrose, representing the operators, and Hon. Justice A. A. McGillivray, appointed by the Federal minister of labor.

Coleman agreements do not expire till next March, but the operators' scale has been posted on a telephone pole by the Coleman Cafe, setting forth the rate for all ranks of labor engaged in coal mining. It has been a centre of interest. Over 8,000 miners in the district are affected, and they urge as their claim for an increase that living costs have increased and under present conditions are likely to move upward.

You wouldn't have sloppy clerks in your store if you want to build business. The same rule applies to printed stationery.

Excel Builders Announcement of Paint Sale

Montreal: More painting will be done this spring in Western Canada than for many years past. This is largely due to a general feeling of optimism, especially in the prairie provinces. "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" week movements have also contributed toward influencing people to brighten up their homes and properties.

One of the best known paint manufacturers is contributing to the "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" movement by offering their well known quality paint this spring at the lowest price in twenty years.

Last year's vogue for satin finishes, introduced by Sherwin-Williams with their new Semi-Lustre washable satin enamel, bids fair to continue. It has figured prominently in the decoration of "House and Garden" Model Home, "Woman's Home Companion" Mystery House, and other famous model homes.

As an added incentive this spring to "Paint-Up and Beautify the Home," Excel Builders' Supply Co. are now putting on a special sale of a wide range of Sherwin-Williams paint products, offering a real saving in cash at a time when people are ready to do their painting.

Important Deal Being Discussed For Pass Theatres

Domination of Film Companies Over Independent Theatres Reason for Action.

Though no definite information is yet available, negotiations have been started by which it is reported that the theatres of Coleman and Blairmore will be purchased by the Cole interests of Bellevue, which control the Hillcrest and Michel theatres as well as Bellevue. This would place them in a strong position to withstand the dictatorial terms of the film companies which have the independent theatre owners almost at their mercy in deciding the terms on which their pictures will be shown.

Wm. Cole, sr., who during the greater part of the year, with Mrs. Cole, lives at Victoria, is at present in Bellevue, and his son, who has the active management of their Pass theatres, is at the coast, whence he is expected to return this week.

On his return it is reported that further action might be decided on between the owners of the theatres concerned.

The Coleman and Blairmore theatres are operated by R. Rinaldi and A. Dow. The latter has for many years been in the business, and at one time operated the Grand theatre in Coleman, which was later converted into the hotel retaining operation of the Palace. The deal will involve a considerable sum, it is reported.

OLDEST TEACHER IN PROVINCE

Over Half Century of Service in Teaching Profession in West—Niece Lives Here.

Miss Victoria LePage, probably the oldest teacher in Alberta, being over 90 years, was recently the recipient of congratulations by the radio stations of the province. She lives in Edmonton, and though she has given up active teaching for quite a number of years, she still gives private lessons in French. It is of interest to learn that Mrs. J. M. Chambers, of Coleman, is a grand niece of Miss LePage, who long before Alberta was organized as a province was teaching in rural schools in what was then the Northwest Territories.

CALEDONIANS HOLD ENJOYABLE PARTY

A whist drive and dance sponsored by the Caledonian Society was held in the L.O.O.F. hall on Friday evening, twenty tables being in play. Prize winners were—ladies: Miss May Phillips, first; Mrs. Geo. Jenkins, second, and Mrs. D. Young, consolation. Gents: Mrs. A. Anderson, first; W. Dutt, second, and Mrs. Geo. Kellogg, consolation. The spot prize was won by Mrs. J. Yates and Mrs. A. Cornett.

RETURNED FROM CALIFORNIA WELCOME HOME

After four months vacation at Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Morrison returned by automobile on Friday last, a week ahead of the date they were expected. Both are looking particularly well after their sojourn in a warmer climate than that of the eastern slope of the Canadian Rockies, and were heartily welcomed back to Coleman by their many friends.

Mr. Morrison, who has been in continuous business the longest of anyone in Coleman, returns to his office looking greatly improved in health, and his friends trust that he will continue his activities in the interests of Coleman, which he has seen grow from the village stage to its present status, and in which he has always taken a very active part on the council as mayor and as school trustee, magistrate and coroner.

Nazarene Mission

Rev. C. H. Mooshian, B.A. in charge. Gurnell Berglund assistant and organist.

SerVICES: Sunday, 11 a.m. Sunday school at 1 p.m. Evening Evangelistic service at 7.30. Tuesday evening, 7.30, regular gospel service. 7.30, prayer meeting. Friday evening, 7.30, prayer meeting. A hearty welcome awaits you. Miss Berglund will be in charge of the services, while Miss Mooshian continues her series of meetings in Spokane, Wash.

Working in Harmony

Bellevue has a group of singers, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Upton, who appear to enjoy their work. Recently they sang a cantata, "From Olivet to Calgary," which required about six weeks practicing, an arduous task it may seem for some of those taking part, for besides the ladies, there were several business men in the choir. But enthusiasm will make difficult tasks easy, and Mrs. Upton has the knack of inspiring those whom she instructs, otherwise she could never hold a group of nearly thirty people long enough to go on practicing a difficult composition. Included in the male ranks of the singers were a hardware merchant, of office men, a dairyman, who possessed a very good voice, and men engaged in various other occupations. Such a choir is a good demonstration of a group of people working together in perfect harmony, in spirit as well as in singing.

GETTING READY FOR BELLEVUE CELEBRATION

Six Candidates for May Queen Nominated—Will Secure Votes by Ticket Selling Campaign.

The committee sponsoring the Victoria Day celebration at Bellevue, on Tuesday, May 24, already are making preparations. The program will likely be held in the arena, so that weather conditions will not interfere with it.

As in previous years, the election for May Queen will excite wide interest. The candidates nominated this week include June Upton, Niece Fidenato, Irene Giacomazzi, Louise Siegen, Nora Spooner and Margaret Hsany. Tickets for the celebration sold by these candidates count as votes, each ticket being good for ten votes. Further details of the program will be published later.

ST. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH WILL OBSERVE 32nd ANNIVERSARY

Mother's Day on May 8th Will Be Featured by Special Service in Morning.

Arrangements are being made for two special days at the church. May 8 will be observed as Mother's Day, and will be kept in the regular tradition of the congregation. There will be a special united service of the Sunday school and the congregation in the morning. A special order of service will be used. If they are procurable at reasonable rates, there will be flowers for the mothers and grandmothers.

May 15 will be devoted to services commemorating the thirty-second anniversary of the opening of the present church building. The detailed arrangements will be announced shortly. For the coming Sunday the services are as usual with the Sunday school at twelve fifteen.

LADY HOUSEKEEPER INJURED AT SUNDAY PARTY

On Easter Sunday over at West Coleman a party was being held and everybody was merry and bright. But about 4.30 p.m. a rift appeared in the lute, during which the lady housekeeper was pushed and fell, causing a fracture of the wrist.

As a result, William Cherchinsky appeared before Magistrate Gresham on a charge of assault. Col. R. F. Barnes, barrister, was retained by the town police to conduct the prosecution, and T. C. Jostigan, barrister, of Blairmore, appeared for the defendant. Several witnesses were examined, the case lasting for two and a half hours.

A fine of $25 and costs was imposed on Cherchinsky. Evidence was at times rather conflicting.

This week the presses in The Journal office have been humming merrily. If it kept up steadily there would be sufficient work for another printer, and more purchasing power. More power to those who place their orders for printing with this office, thereby keeping the wheels of industry—and the presses—turning.

In Favor of Canadians Remaining in Kootenay League

Schedule of Circuit Proved Expensive to Trail and Kimberley Clubs, Both Had Heavy Deficits "Smilin' Harry Brown, in company with several Kimberley hockey and football fans visited in Coleman on Sunday.

They were unanimous in the opinion that Coleman and Lethbridge should continue in the Kootenay league next winter. Said Harry: "Lethbridge, Coleman and Kimberley trimmed Trail this winter, which shows the calibre of hockey played in the league."

Kimberley, contrary to reports of breaking even on the year's operations, were $750 in the red. Trail went $2,000 in the red, but won the Allan Cup, which is probably worth that in publicity and reputation.

Kimberley, spurred to greater efforts since Trail won the Allan Cup, are going to organize a booster club to create a reserve fund for the Dynamiters. Coach Johnny Achtenzer, if Kimberley reports are correct, is "all washed-up" in Kimberley hockey circles and the team management is seeking a new coach.

In answer to a question why they went down to such an overwhelming defeat to Trail in the last game of the series played at Kimberley, Harry stated that the team was not pulling together and finished by saying: "We clicked two years in a row, we can't click every year."

MRS. C. W. MACKINNON BEREAVED BY DEATH OF FATHER

Called East on Friday, But Arrived a Day Late—Mr. Field an Honored Pioneer of Tavistock.

In response to a telegram received on Friday by Mrs. Charles W. Mackinnon, informing her of the serious illness of her father, Mr. James G. Field, of Tavistock, Ontario, she left on Saturday's train for the east. Unfortunately while she was still on her journey, Mr. Field passed away on Monday afternoon, and Mrs. Mackinnon did not reach there till Tuesday. Mr. Mackinnon received the telephone message announcing the death, but at the time arrangements had not been made for the funeral.

Mr. Field leaves to mourn his passing his wife and other members of the family. Besides Mrs. Mackinnon are a daughter (Helen), Mrs. Penhill, of St. Thomas, Ont., who has visited in the West on various occasions, and a son, Mr. James Field, of Tavistock, Ont., who is the junior partner in the firm of J. G. Field & Son, manufacturers of woolen goods.

It was in the issue of March 8 of The Journal there was recorded a report of the observance of Mr. Field's 84th birthday, when he was honored by his fellow-townsmen and the employees of his factory. He was then enjoying excellent health, attending his office every day. He came from Scotland when a boy, and had been active in the business and community life of his home town for over fifty years.

PEEPING TOM STAMPEDED

A week or more ago a local lady went to the laundry in clothes from the washline, and in the darkness glimpsed a shadow. Immediately she raised an alarm, and a man dashed over the fence and hurried over rocks and every other obstacle. So fast did he move that a jack-rabbit would have had difficulty in getting out of his path. There have on various occasions been complaints lodged of "peeping Toms," but they manage to evade capture. A good peeping with bucketshot would effectively cure the culprit.

Let's cut the talk and get action on the highway surfacing. What's physically possible should be, etc.

An Industry To Nurture

At a time when Western Canada is looking around for more sources of revenue to boost dwindling governmental treasuries and to augment the supply of coin for private and corporate purposes, it might be appropriate to give some serious consideration to the advisability of devising methods to develop tourist traffic to a greater extent than has been achieved to date.

Insofar as increased tourist trade has an effect on governmental revenues is concerned it might be argued that comparatively little of the money brought into the country by motorist visitors from south of the international boundary is contributed directly to the provincial governments. This is true, of course, but it is also true that the money expended by tourists in the purchase of commodities and services while they are here makes it easier for the residents of the country to pay taxes and imposts levied by all classes of governments, federal, provincial and municipal, and to the extent that it does so, assists in boosting the revenues of these governments. So that not only those who have commodities and services to sell to tourists benefit by the money that they spend in the country, but it is advantageous to all the taxpayers.

Beneficial To The East

Taking the country as a whole recently released figures show that Canada benefits very substantially by tourist traffic and moreover these figures show that tourist trade ranks high in the nation's industries, even after due allowance has been made for the contra expenditure of Canadian visitors to the United States.

A preliminary estimate made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that the total expenditure of foreign tourists in Canada in 1937 was approximately $295,000,000, while the total expenditures of Canadian tourists in other countries was approximately $122,000,000. The corresponding estimates for 1936 were $249,000,000 and $107,000,000 respectively. These figures not only show that the tourist traffic, both inward and outward bound, is growing, but that a very substantial trade balance in favor of this country is depicted—a balance of $172,000,000 in 1937 as compared with $142,000,000 the preceding year.

When these figures are compared with the total revenue derived from what in recent years they are quite impressive, but unfortunately it is easily demonstrated that comparatively little of the tourist harvest is reaped in the prairie provinces, perhaps not as much as might be if greater efforts were made to attract more visitors with money to spend some leisure time in Western Canada.

Beneficial To The Taxpayers

There are reasons why the east enjoys a tremendous percentage of this comparatively new found source of wealth. They are to be found in greater concentrations of population on both sides of the international border, accessibility and the existence of first class highways. Some of these advantages cannot be expected to accrue to the west immediately, but there is reason to believe that the west could derive a larger share of the benefit if more attention were paid to improvements in the highways system in the prairie provinces, in addition to completion of the trans-Canada highway and its maintenance in a state of high efficiency.

An improved highway system is a project which might well receive attention as an appropriate form of unemployed workers to a greater extent than it has hitherto. Such work could absorb a great deal of unskilled labor now idle and available and it would have this merit that, if properly conceived and economically carried out, it would ensure some return to the taxpayers of the country, in direct form to some and in indirect form to the others.

There is much of charm in the Western Canadian scene and to many of our neighbors to the south the northern and western parts of Canada have a romantic allure which should draw much tourist traffic if adequate highway facilities made travel more certain and more easy and made these charms more readily accessible.

Moreover the completion of a first class highway across Canada with suitable lateral links should not only have the effect of drawing more American tourists to the prairie provinces but should also divert more Eastern Canadian tourists to the west.

A Worthwhile Effort

The past few years of agricultural depression have not only taught westerners the necessity for greater diversification of agriculture but that also the west needs other industries besides agriculture if the economic life of this section of Canada is to become more stable. Some of these industries are evolving, some with rapidity and some more slowly, as for example the petroleum industry, but the tourist trade is another which appears to be worthy of cultivation to a material degree.

Increased Collections

Larger Revenue Shown At Close Of Government's Fiscal Year

Finance Minister Dunning closed his books March 31, at the close of the government's fiscal year, with substantial increases from the income tax and customs and excise collections. It has been shown by the department of national revenue.

The income tax yielded $120,365,531 in the fiscal year, an increase of $18,000,289.

Net collections from customs duties, excise taxes and excise duties totalled $319,046,003, an increase of $44,701,517 over the previous 12-month period.

Net customs duties totalled $91,636,781, an increase of $9,564,821; excise taxes, $174,613,297, an increase of $25,852,022; and excise duties, $52,162,116, an increase of $6,191,051.

On an average, it takes a London taxicab driver 10 years to pay for his cab.

Owned Big Business

Russian Deal In Old Newspapers And Made Fortune

Abraham Lipman who went to New York as a boy from Russia and grew up to have more interest in old newspapers than in new ones, died recently at the age of 63.

He founded the Lipman paper company that marketed waste paper of the New York newspapers abroad for more than 20 years. For several years he did a gross annual business of $1,000,000.

Lipman exported the over-issue copies of the newspapers to China, Japan, India, Java and South Africa for wrapping purposes and for partitioned bar soap houses. About 30 per cent. of the paper was sold for remanufacture as newsprint.

Three orchids, originally from Switzerland and valued at $250, were flown recently from Croydon to Cologne.

Tip For Church People

Every Preacher Needs Quick Time To Prepare His Sermon

"Every now and then a 'Go to Church' movement arises under the inspirational support. It flourishes for part of a month of Sundays. Then it gives way to a new debate on the decline of church attendance. The ordinary layman, reading his Sunday paper in bed, remarks that the preachers aren't doing as well as they should.

Many of them are not, sleep-head. But it's not the fault of the preacher, or of any one man in a congregation. It is the fault of the habit the ordinary congregation has of wasting the minister's time. He has a sermon, or sermons, to prepare for Sunday. Every church attaches importance, and some denominations yield supreme importance, to "the ministry of the Word." Yet when is this message prepared? During five minutes here and three minutes there and ten minutes later on, while the man is bothered constantly about infinite passing details of parish fuss.

The Beechers, Talmages, Spurgeons of the former generation were not burdened with parish routine at all. The Puritan divines, who hung to a text for four hours or five, had other hours to prepare those encyclopedic homilies. No congregation now hastens to a four hour sermon, and many cannot afford to receive the preacher of pastoral work. But any church can raise its own standards by considering the preacher's time as previously claimed for his chief duty. They can forbid and stop frivolous thefts of that time, as they can prevent interruptions of a solemn service.

Congregations are wasting good, devoted, able, eloquent men by forcing them to prepare too hurriedly and to preach below their best. Let deacons and elders and vestrymen and Ladies' Aid societies suppress the parish fuss, give the preachers a chance, and they will preach so that mobs will overflow the doors to hear them. Detroit Saturday Night.

Largest Of Its Kind

Alce Tree In South Africa Is 60 Feet In Height

All the giant trees in the world do not grow in California, just redwoods. South Africa has what is claimed to be the world's largest tree, discovered near Greytown, Natal. It is just over 60 feet in height and 22 feet round the trunk. The discoverer, Professor Elbrecht, of the Pretoria University, came upon it when touring Natal with five companions in a specially equipped lorry, seeking specimens for the botanical gardens of the Pretoria University. He spends all his holidays in the way and has already travelled 200,000 miles through the veld. Brandon Sun.

Have Been Repaired

Massive Ramparts At Ypres Are Over 250 Years Old

Famous Ypres ramparts, which for four years of the World War stood the German guns, are now repaired. The massive brick-faced bulwarks, 30 feet wide, which resisted high-explosive German shells and sheltered many thousands of soldiers, have been neglected since the armistice. For 20 years they have stood just as they did when peace was declared, except that flower gardens have been built on their broad tops. Most of the old city of Ypres has been rebuilt, but the shotguns of the ramparts, now over 250 years old.

Perseverance Necessary

Without It We Cannot Acquire Good Things We Crave

The old saying is that all things come to those who wait. Change this so as to make it declare that nearly all the good things of both worlds are possible to those who will persevere long enough in seeking them, and you will have a statement, at least which does not at all exceed the limits of truth. If, too, you should turn it around, the converse of it would be equally true; for without perseverance we need have no expectation of acquiring much or being of much service to our fellow-creatures.

Exchange Of Students

Intellectual Reciprocity Between Canada And United States Is Urged

An "intellectual reciprocity" between Canada and the United States was urged by Dr. Alan Valentine, president of the University of Rochester, in an address at Toronto to the 77th annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association.

To encourage an exchange of students between the two countries, he offered a four-year-undergraduate scholarship at the University of Rochester to a Canadian secondary school student chosen by the O.E.A. There was still sufficient difference between Canadian and United States cultures for both countries to benefit by a wider scale of student exchange, he said. He considered such exchanges among the most enduring features of international bonds.

Canadian educationists were urged to guard their Anglo-Saxon ideals and avoid pitfalls of "socialism," softening of the brain and inflexibility into which many United States universities had stumbled.

French Dance On Trains

Special Car Is Large Enough To Accommodate Twelve Couples

France's "radio trains" carry a special dancing car large enough for 12 couples to dance at once. The trains, introduced as a novelty, have their own broadcasting station, which is turned in with the music. Lectures on the passing countryside are delivered over it, music is played and the latest news given. An amateur hour for passengers is usually arranged and a popularity contest held. Trains are operated on Sundays, making a round trip to places of historical or other interest to travellers.

Rescued From Tree Top

Fire Brigade Was Called When Cockatoo Escaped From Cage

A white cockatoo has to be rescued from a tree-top by the fire brigade at Gbe, near Sydney, Australia, not long ago.

Escaping from its cage, it managed to perch 60 feet from the ground in the top of a tree, although one leg was hampered by a chain. This chain proved its downfall, for the bird became entangled in it and could not move. As the tree could not be climbed, the cockatoo's owner remembered the Gbe Fire Brigade's ladders; but these were not long enough, and they had to send for a longer one to the Fire Brigade headquarters in Sydney.

When this arrived the cockatoo, screaming furiously and trying to resist capture, was bundled into a bag by two firemen, and its adventures for that day ended.

DESSERTS

There is no need to settle down to a diet of apple sauce or stewed prunes. Dried fruits and canned fruits are always available, to say nothing of lemons, grapefruit, apples and bananas.

There is a knack, however, in serving these fruits to bring out their full flavour and colour. A simple and easy way to do this is by combining fruits with jelly. It makes such a difference in the appearance and taste of ordinary fruits, and dresses them up to look like company desserts, but they are simple enough to serve every day.

Combine Each Mold

1 cup peach juice
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
12 cloves
1 stick cinnamon
1 cup canned peaches, sliced
1 pint of orange flavoured quick-setting jelly powder
Combine peach juice, vinegar, sugar, cloves and cinnamon and bring to boil. Add peaches and simmer 10 minutes. Remove peaches from syrup. Strain. Add orange water to syrup and bring to 2 cups. Dissolve jelly in warm liquid. Arrange peach slices in individual molds. Pour jelly over them. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 6.

Grapefruit Mounds

1 package lime jelly powder
1 pint warm water
Dash of salt
1 package orange sections free from membrane
Dissolve jelly powder in warm water. Add salt. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Cut grapefruit sections lengthwise in slices. Arrange in molds. Fill with orange sections. Chill until firm. Unmold jelly on them. Serves 8.

Here are two practical and delicious orange desserts:

4 oranges, free from membrane and cut in pieces
1 cup sugar
1 package orange jelly powder
1/2 cup warm water
Combine orange sections, sugar and let stand 10 minutes. Dissolve jelly in warm water, pour over oranges, and chill. Stir occasionally while cooling. Serve in sherbet glasses. Serves 8.

Realism Is Uncanny

Hard To Remember Charlie McCarthy Is Not Real

A visiting radio executive, stopping off in Cleveland on his return from a trip to the west coast, tells of the uncanny realism of Charlie McCarthy, America's boy friend.

Even the hired help around the studio where Edgar Bergen broadcasts seem to forget every once in a while, he says, that Charlie isn't a real flesh and blood person.

For example, he attended a rehearsal of a Sunday night program, and saw a page boy show a script to Bergen, then walk off with it. Up spoke Charlie McCarthy: "Hey, wait a minute—let me see that, too." The page boy whirled around, said "Pardon me," and handed the script to the dummy in perfect seriousness. Apparently Edgar Bergen has fun with Charlie, even when they're not on the air. My informant tells me that he brings Charlie into the studio in a suitcase, from which he hear Charlie's voice, yelling: "Let me out of here, Bergen!" Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Thought River Was Sea

A young couple from the United States had fond dreams of being married at sea by the captain of a boat. Crossing the St. Lawrence from Ogdensburg, they asked Capt. J. Bolvan to marry them. You don't need a license to marry at sea, the young man explained. "But you are not at sea," replied the captain, ending matrimonial plans.

Britain's Air Arm

Would Purchase Warplanes From Canada And U.S.

Great Britain means business in her determination to build up her defensive air arm to a state of power and efficiency where it will be second to none among world powers—even if it entails the importation of machines, parts and equipment.

On the heels of Earl Winterton's announcement that exploratory steps had been taken in regard to purchase of warplanes from Canada and the United States, The Canadian Press learned authoritatively that Air Ministry experts would sail for the United States to open official discussions.

Britain, it is reported, is ready to buy at least 500 of the latest type bombers from United States manufacturers and negotiations are said to have been started with three Canadian firms for additional craft.

The estimated expenditure would be $15,000,000 to $25,000,000. The original Royal Air Force building program called for completion of 1,750 fully modern, first-line aircraft by next March but it now understood the new expansion calls for construction of 2,300 machines.

If the United States deal materializes, it would be the largest military contract placed outside the Empire since the Great War when Britain purchased tremendous quantities of munitions from the United States.

It is pointed out that United States neutrality act empowers the President to ban the export of war materials to belligerents at his discretion. But British authorities believe this problem could be hurdled.

There is nothing, they say, to prevent United States aircraft companies from opening branch factories in Canada, thus overcoming the objection that overseas production might be stopped or curtailed in the event of war.

Canadian factories are suggested by Lieut. Colonel J. T. C. Moore-Brazton. In an article on "Aviation: Civil and Military" in the April issue of Empire View, the Conservative member of Parliament wrote:

"We must put down in Canada, either in the industrial belt around Toronto or further west, factories where, unknown to the enemy, great long range bombers can be produced in large quantities; and where, in spite of war, there would grow up slowly enormous production which would overcome the enemy."

"The only question that matters is how our 'plane production compares with that of the country against which we are building. . . . And we have to take Germany as a basis of comparison."

"According to the most reliable information at my disposal Germany is to-day producing 350 machines each month, and can, on a three-shift basis, extend to 600 a month."

"On the other hand, we have reached 200 a month, and when the shadow factories get going, we can produce 300 in the same period. The fact stands out, we are getting into a worse position relative to Germany than when we started."

Protecting Suez Canal

Britain's $60,000,000 Army Base Will Require Seven Years To Complete

Britain's new $60,000,000 army base in the Mouscar and Genclia areas of Egypt, deemed to give better protection of the Suez canal, is so vast it will require seven years to complete.

It will extend over five miles, and will include barracks accommodation for 10,000 soldiers. There will be hotels, stores, schools, places of amusement, an officers' club, and possibly a race track. Airfields and bombing ranges will be laid out for the 400 Royal Air Force pilots of the district.

Before construction is started many mosquito swamps and pools must be drained and arterial roads leading from the base to strategic points in Egypt completed.

Age Class Of Workers

A Toronto psychologist predicts that within 50 years children two years old will be going to school. Recently another observer expressed the belief that education should continue up to the student's thirtieth year. As there are people who maintain that men from 55 years up should be pensioned, we may imagine a world in which all the work is done by the age class of 30 to 55.

Canadian Builders Of Aircraft Ready To Supply Empire Planes

Ottawa. Prompted by reports the United Kingdom would require aircraft manufactured in Canada, representatives of manufacturers in the Dominion called Saturday upon Lieut.-Col. W. R. Lafche, deputy minister of national defence, and offered their entire facilities to both Canada and the empire in meeting these requirements.

Col. Lafche was requested to convey this offer to the British aircraft mission which is due to reach the United States this week on a tour of the United States to ascertain the possibility of obtaining machines here.

It was stated that eight of the leading aircraft manufacturers represented at the meeting were already manufacturing service machines for the defence department.

Col. Lafche, chairman of the conference, said he was not in possession of definite information as to the arrival of the British mission in Canada nor their itinerary in the Dominion.

Spokesmen for the aircraft manufacturers said Canadian factories were not working at near their capacity to produce service machines, and facilities could be made available to enable the industry to supply equipment of this kind in large quantities.

It was decided each manufacturing concern would immediately forward to the deputy minister a detailed statement and description of their plant facilities, and Col. Lafche was asked to send such information along to the British mission and to the United Kingdom government.

Pending completion of this information, the deputy minister said no definite estimate of Canada's total production capacity could be made available.

Message From Expedition

All's Well With British Group Attempting Mount Everest Climbs. Kailashpong, Bengal, India.—An "all's well" message was received from the British expedition which recently crossed the Indian frontier into Tibet on an attempt to scale Mt. Everest. The letter, the first received since the group crossed the border, was sent by Francis S. Smythe and reported Everest was clear of storms.

Trouble In Wales

London.—The Welsh Nationalist party is in the thick of a new battle with the majority of Welsh people. This time this hard-hitting minority organization is venting its spleen against England by exhorting Wales to ignore Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare's appeal for air raid precaution work.

Young Novelist

Toronto. Lloyd McKenzie, 16, has written 16 novels, each of them a murder mystery, to win honors as Toronto's youngest, if not most prolific writer. He rents the books at one cent a week. The books are on display at the Children's Aid Society hobby show here.

Large Number Of Troops Being Sent By Japan To China

Tokyo.—Large numbers of new troops are being sent to China where recent Japanese military reverses have created high political tension at home.

There are no figures, but the troop movement is the first on a large scale in many months. Streets are filled with departing soldiers bidding farewell to their families and the scenes are comparable to those of last September when Japan entered the conflict in earnest and began moving large home forces to the front.

The political crisis which had risen from the China campaign may now lead to a head when Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye reports to the emperor.

The premier returned to work after nearly a month's absence attributed to illness, during which rumors grew he would resign in opposition to further extreme measures urged by the military leaders.

The prince himself said in an in-

Seeks Investigation

Request For Judicial Inquiry Into Management Of Dionne Quintuplets

Ottawa.—A request for a judicial inquiry into the guardians' management of the Dionne quintuplets has been lodged with the Ontario attorney-general's department by Henry St. Jacques, Ottawa barrister, acting for Olivia Dionne, father of the quints.

Mr. St. Jacques said here he had been retained by Mr. Dionne two weeks ago and sent his request to the attorney-general's department several days ago.

In his request to the department, Mr. St. Jacques urged that the investigation include inquiry into the supervision of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the children's doctor, and his fellow guardians' management of the quints' financial affairs.

Mr. St. Jacques said his books of the guardianship are audited by government officials there was a question in the mind of Dr. Dionne whether their money was being spent judiciously. It was to clear up this that he sought the investigation.

The lawyer said Mr. Dionne had not come to Ottawa to enlist his aid but had called him to Callander. Mr. St. Jacques refused to release the text of the letter he sent the attorney-general.

Mr. St. Jacques said he requested the investigation cover the period of the first guardianship and the present one.

The present guardians are Percy D. Wilson, official guardian of minor children for Ontario, Dr. Dafoe, Judge J. A. Valian of North Bay and Olivia Dionne. Dionne has taken no part in the guardianship, although appointed to the body by a special act of the Ontario legislature.

The application by Mr. St. Jacques is the latest in a long list of attempts the quints' father has made to regain possession of them.

Accident In Mine

One Man Killed And Six Injured When Cage Drops 800 Feet

Port Arthur, Ont.—Five doctors sought to mend the crushed limbs and heal other injuries of six men who hurtled 800 feet in a cage at the Northern Empire gold mine near Beardmore, 128 miles northeast of here.

Preparations also were made for blood transfusions to save the men who miraculously escaped death in the plunge which killed one miner. The mine, owned by the Newmont Corporation of New York, was closed for a week while A. S. Bayne, inspector of mines for the Ontario department of mines, made an investigation.

The miner killed was Joe Barr, 25, single. He died from internal injuries and fractured limbs.

The injured, suffering from fractured arms and legs and internal injuries, were: Tony Kril, Joe Karpik, 34; John Karpik, 42; William Doble, 25; Kenneth Murphy, 30; Stanley White, 37.

Hitler Celebrates Birthday

Hailed As Champion Of World Peace And Liberator Of Austria

Berlin.—Germans of all walks of life showered Adolf Hitler with gifts as the fuhrer celebrated his 49th birthday.

A lion's cub, phonograph records of all official speeches made in connection with the union with Austria, a complete set of all editions in all languages of his book, "Mein Kampf," were among the presents.

The populations of Germany and Austria, in a state of exaltation since the Austrian crisis began six weeks ago, avidly embraced the occasion to work off their emotions again.

Berlin, Vienna and Munich witnessed spectacular, enthusiastic celebrations.

The fuhrer was hailed as the greatest architect of all time, the master military genius of the age, friend of the poor and oppressed, champion of world peace with honor, comrade of the young people, liberator of Austria, first worker of his people, guardian of German culture — to mention only a few of the epithets applied.

At midday Hitler stood for an hour beaming with pride on a platform in front of Berlin University to review a parade of the best divisions of the armed forces. An apparent purpose of the demonstrations was to show Germans and foreign military attaches that Germany's weapons are formidable.

Among the gifts was the 500,000th automobile turned out by the Daimler-Benz works. Numerous cradles and baby carriages were given bachelors for fun to dispose of to needy couples visited by the storm.

British Aviation Mission

Plan To Have Planes Built In Canada By Establishing Plants

London.—The British aviation mission which sailed for the United States will attempt to negotiate the purchase of 500 United States aeroplanes, well informed persons said, as well as sound out the prospects for establishing auxiliary aircraft plants in Canada to supply the Royal Air Force.

The object of the mission in Canada, observers declared, will be to study the possibility of setting up plants which would not only contribute to British production but also act as a reserve immune from any such bombing raids as the British Isles suffered during the Great War.

Motors and aeroplane bodies would be manufactured in Canada and shipped to Britain for mounting. The possibility of flying planes under their own power across the Atlantic was reported under consideration.

Some sources declared the government was more interested in aircraft supplies than in machines.

In the light of the mission's reported plans for purchase of American planes, special interest was taken in a British Airways' announcement that four Lockheed planes had been ordered in the United States for use in a service between London and West Africa.

Volcanic Eruption In Japan

Tokyo.—Mount Asama, Japan's largest and most active volcano, erupted with the biggest shower of stones and ashes in six years. Rocks the size of watermelons rained on the slopes and villages nearby, causing a forest fire which raged for eight hours. Police prohibited mountain climbers from going up the slopes.

CHANGES POST

Sir Francis Floud, Britain's popular Trade Commissioner in Canada, will leave his post at Ottawa in September to become Chairman of a Commission to be established by the Bengal (India) Government. The Commission will review the existing system of land revenues and tenure in Bengal and make suggestions for reform of the system.

Germans In Spain

Spanish Embassy In London Says They Control Insurgent Operations

London.—The Spanish embassy charged that German general staff officers were in control of all Spanish insurgent operations along the Pyrenees frontier between insurgent Spain and France.

The embassy charge was contained in a communiqué which read: "On April 16, the German general staff decided to keep control of all operations on the Pyrenees frontier. That night, five high officials left Berlin by air for Burgos."

The command in the northern front in Spain is at present in the hands of German Generals Wolf of the German air force, and Wittersheim of the 14th army corps.

"On April 14 and 15, 63 officers left Munich in Junker planes, 52 of them for Seville, to prepare an immediate offensive against Almeria from Malaga."

"This offensive will be commanded by General Prager of the reserve corps and Colonel Hiler of the seventh German army corps."

Returned From Spain

Two Western Canadian Boys Fought With Government Troops

Toronto. George Hayes of Winnipeg, and Jack Lawson of Vancouver, who said they were fresh from a year's fighting with Spanish government troops, stopped in Toronto last week on their way home. Neither was injured while in service. Hayes said he fought with the "Lincoln battalion," while Lawson said he served with the "English anti-tank" troops.

Another Pilot Killed

London.—Sgt. Geoffrey H. Keats-Hughes was killed when a Royal Air Force plane he was piloting plunged into the English Channel off Portsmouth, the air ministry announced. The body was not recovered.

Britain And Eire Enter A New Era Of Friendly Relations

London.—The United Kingdom and Eire have reached an agreement on long-standing differences.

A cryptic announcement to this effect from the Dominions office raised hopes of a new era of friendly relations between the island neighbors and speculation on the scope of the agreement.

The announcement simply said discussion had been concluded and an agreement reached without mentioning the subjects covered.

Irish circles in London believed it covered trade, defence and the land annuities problem, though the major issue of the partition of Ireland remains unsolved.

It is believed the Eire government agreed to making its defence expenditures in consultation with the British government, while Great Britain in return agreed to withdraw her garrisons from certain Irish ports.

The agreement is the fruit of three months of laborious negotiations to end the financial and trade quarrel dating back to 1932.

High hopes are entertained it will mean that Britain and the former Irish Free State are ready to forget the bitterness and bloodshed of the past. Though the boundary between Northern Ireland and Eire will remain, the choice of Dr. Douglas Hyde, who is a Protestant, as the candidate for the presidency of Eire of both the major parties, was seen as a gesture to Northern Ireland.

The Belfast government watched the negotiations anxiously throughout, fearful lest Northern Ireland's trade suffer, but possibility was expressed that closer trade relations over the border in Ireland might lead to closer political relations.

The agreement was regarded as the most important development in Anglo-Irish relations since the partition of Ireland in 1922. Under the partition, the island of Eire was given the same constitutional status in the British commonwealth of nations as the self-governing dominions. The six counties of Northern Ireland continued under a separate parliament set up in 1920.

The end of the economic war through a trade agreement between the United Kingdom and Eire would be a boon especially to Irish agriculture.

Ireland's adverse balance of trade has increased steadily since the United Kingdom imposed penal tariffs on imports from the Free State after Mr. De Valera's government declined to continue payment of the land annuities.

These payments were designed to compensate Great Britain for sums paid to expropriated owners of land in Ireland. The Free State discontinued payments in 1932; Britain retaliated with severe duties and the economic war, softened only by a coal-tar tie for exchange of those commodities, has raged since.

Pilot Makes Port

Airman Paddles Plane Seven Miles After Being Forced Down On Water

Vancouver.—While two seaplanes and a police launch searched, Pilot Ginger Coote, the noted British Columbia airman, told how he paddled his cabin monoplane seven miles to shore after being forced down with engine trouble in the Gulf of Georgia. "I didn't see any tug," Coote said, "so I began paddling in the direction of shore. I reached shore in about six hours and tied up at a fish dock to await daylight. Then I got a fishboat to tow me to the base in the Fraser river."

Plan Early Start On Highway From United States To Alaska

Washington.—Administration and British Columbia officials shaped plans at a conference for an early start on a $20,000,000 highway from the American northwest to Alaska.

The conference, who included Interior Secretary Ickes and Prime Minister T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia, indicated congress might be asked at this session to approve a $15,000,000 loan to finance the western Canadian province's share of the 2,200-mile road.

They said the possibility also was considered of seeking to earmark some of the administration's new public works outlays for the purpose, but stressed no final decision was reached.

Pattullo left for Ottawa after assuring the Americans British Columbia was "very much interested" in the project, but could not finance it unaided.

Alaska's congressional delegate, Anthony J. Dimond, said congress would be asked at this session to approve enabling legislation of some kind, as soon as a formal statement to the United States and Canada could be worked out.

The Alaskan highway proposal has been pending for 15 years and an inquiry commission reported in 1933 it was feasible and could be built at the "reasonable" cost of about $14,000,000. Later estimates have increased this to about $20,000,000.

Approximately half the mileage has been built, principally a stretch from Vancouver to Hazelton, B.C.

Ottawa.—Government sources disclosed here that Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia corresponded with federal authorities a year ago concerning a proposed highway through his province from the United States to Alaska, but the scheme was not advanced further.

Officials said the government had not been advised beforehand concerning conversations Mr. Pattullo had in Washington with United States government heads to plan an early start on a $20,000,000 highway.

Labour Minister Norman Rogers said he had never discussed the highway proposal with Mr. Pattullo and had no request for an interview while the British Columbia premier was in Ottawa while en route to the west coast from Washington. The prime minister's office said they had not heard from Mr. Pattullo concerning the highway scheme.

Construction of such a highway would involve the federal government if it was decided to include it in the Dominion relief projects.

Details of the government's relief expenditures for this year have not yet been made public but will be detailed in parliament soon.

"It would be premature to make any disclosures at this time as to whether the government plans to include such highway development in its relief work," Mr. Rogers said.

Mr. Rogers would not comment on the report the United States congress might be asked to approve a $15,000,000 loan to finance British Columbia's share of the road.

A high labor department official said he interpreted it as meaning the United States would consider the loan in investment in defence because the highway would ensure rapid transportation between Alaska and the United States northwest.

Perhaps the last photograph to be taken of Grey Owl, famous Indian naturalist, before his death, shows him with his wife, Silver Dawn, when he recently visited Jack Miner's bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario. Jack Miner is looking on as Silver Dawn and Grey Owl feed the pigeons at the sanctuary.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

VERY LITTLE analysis will confirm the truth that though Coleman is about 35 years old, has enjoyed a substantial payroll during most of that time, and possesses advantages that other towns might envy, it has not measured up to its opportunities.

A STRANGER casting his eye down Main street wonders why the town does not have that up-and-coming air of a place which a payroll of between $35,000 and $40,000 every two weeks would lead him to expect. It is a fact that a very large percentage of it is not being spent in Coleman, and it is lost forever as far as helping to make Coleman a better place in which to live and work.

CLOSING our eyes to shortcomings is fatal to progress. He who drifts into an atmosphere of self-contentment is ready for the grave—his era of usefulness is about over. We well remember that soon after we came here an individual inferred that we were trying to push things too fast. His pace must have been mighty slow, and is yet. We have endeavored to publish a newspaper creditable to the town, and had we relied entirely on local revenue, it is problematical if we could have survived. By casting around we have managed to secure revenue from other sources which has gone into the making of a newspaper, because we try and perform our duty to the best of our ability and as far as finances will permit. What is the use of complaining of business going elsewhere if no real effort is made to keep it here?

THERE IS always scope for constructive ideas to be put into action. There is not a business man but who can give some thought every morning on how to improve business. This is a competitive age and despite the popular clamor of the mob and the soft soaping of politicians that they are working for social security and a great deal more "mush," the only security anyone will enjoy is that which he works for and by the use of his mental faculties. The age-old law of the survival of the fittest will always prevail.

LIVE, energetic, enterprising business men make small towns grow into bigger towns, and there is plenty of opportunities right here for expansion and sound development. The field is not restricted, it is open to all, the best plums are not to be gained by waiting for them to fall from the trees; you must pick them.

ROYALTIES received by the provincial government from Alberta coal mines are reported to have totalled over a quarter of a million dollars in 1937. For promotional work to widen markets for Alberta coal in Ontario and Manitoba, last year the government was asked by resolution of a representative meeting to appropriate at least $25,000, approximately ten per cent. of what was received in royalties.

RECENTLY vigorous representation was again made to the government to take action to at least make an attempt to relieve the distress caused by almost total unemployment in some of the Pass mines. Rev. R. Upton of Bellevue has been a staunch campaigner on behalf of the mining industry, but his report on the reception of a delegation which interviewed the minister of mines in Edmonton holds little hope of benefit. Apparently the minister is not conscious of what the coal industry means to Alberta. He is reported to have stated he was doing all he could, and sympathized with the workless. The crowning touch was his claim that he was placing some advertising, which proved to be an obscure advertisement in an obscure magazine.

THE JOURNAL has pointed out that only by direct representation of an aggressive nature will this district receive the consideration it deserves. It is high time that a movement was started to prepare a candidate for the next provincial election. Promises and sympathy are just "eye-wash." A man who is vitally interested and who will keep hammering the government till it does take action is the only hope. This applies to the federal as well as the provincial government. Our present representatives are more concerned in spreading Social Credit propaganda than fighting for something of a practical nature. The fight must be maintained, hard though the road may be, and already The Journal has received intimation that miners of Hillcrest, Bellevue and Blairmore are "fed up" and are casting their eyes around for someone who will fight their cause unceasingly to secure them a fair measure of employment.

OUR PREMIER talks so much that he gets himself tied up in knots. In February the editor of the Olds Gazette dreamed he saw the premier driving in a shiny new Buick automobile. He related his dream in print, and it was the subject of a "steadfast" denial by the premier that he had such a car. Now the truth is out. The premier was actually seen driving in it. No wonder our premier would like to suppress newspapers so that the truth could not be told.

Time For Vigorous Action

Political hand-outs in this district may have favored a few, but to what extent have automobile owners benefited from the thousands of dollars they have paid in license fees and gasoline tax. Only by persistent hammering at the highways department will this district get its just due. Why not finance a delegation to go to Edmonton and demand action? Send the Mayors of the Pass towns and Pincher Creek and Macleod.

If Pincher to Waterton can be surfaced on federal and provincial grants, why not the Crows Nest Pass with its all-year heavy traffic? What is Mr. Hansell doing at Ottawa? Why not our Liberal executive of the Pass bring political pressure to bear on the powers that be?

"Oh, Promise Me!"

Omises only so far is what Mr. Duke states he has received from the minister of highways towards the surfacing of the highway. So many of these since 1936 have been handed out and none fulfilled, that another doesn't do any harm. But there is always hope, provided it isn't so long deferred that it maketh the heart sick. Keep on pecking away Mr. Duke; we'll all join in a chorus of thanksgiving when we get the dust out of our eyes.

It takes a diplomatic liar to make people sit around with open mouths when he talks.

MAKING CANADA

A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE AND WORK
A Series of Letters from Distinguished Canadians on Vital
Problems Affecting the Future Welfare of Canada
Specially Written for Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

Letter No. 3

Dear Mr. James:

I have just received your letter of the 13th.

You are in position to give a great service to Canada. I was raised on a farm and know the constructive work done by the rural weekly papers. I still read them. These publications, being rural, are read to a greater extent, for the number of copies issued, than any other class of papers.

You have asked me for suggestions, and without giving the matter careful thought, the suggestions that come first to my mind are as follows:

1. To encourage the highest regard for government, for law and the enforcement of law.

2. That you urge the election, to our different governmental bodies, men and women of the highest character and whose purpose will be to serve the people of this country unselfishly and to the best of their ability. And on the other hand endeavor to break down political organizations who seek to control government for a selfish purpose and not for the benefit of the people at large.

3. To encourage people to be self-supporting and to live within their means, and wherever possible, to accumulate. I see no reason for the extensive debt that seems to exist, not only in our country, but other countries. There is as good an opportunity today to make a living in Canada as there has been any time in the past; as a matter of fact I think present conditions are more favorable.

4. That we secure and maintain an export market. Canada is naturally an export country and our success depends largely on our efforts along these lines.

5. To build an export market we must compete in quality, price and service. To compete in price we must have competitive costs, therefore, low costs for the basis of our success.

6. That you encourage a better understanding between the rural and urban districts. Each of these districts are depending on the other. It is only through intelligent planning and close co-operation of rural and city people that we can achieve the best results.

7. That you use your best efforts to eliminate waste, which is ruining this country and has put it into a serious condition through unnecessary debt. The two major sources of waste is the Canadian National Railway, and the multiplicity of governments and the unnecessary number of people employed by these governments.

Canada must do a better job than she has done in the recent past if we are to meet our obligations and to reduce our taxes and get a greater stability among our people.

Yours very truly,

We've An Allan Cup, Too!

Having stacked up against the Smoke-Eaters, and having beaten them two out of four games, Canadians feel justly proud of their fourth season in senior hockey. Not to be outdone entirely in having a trophy as a souvenir of their victories, Bill Bell brought one back from Calgary, which now adorns the Grand Union bar. It is not of silver like the Allan Cup, neither is it of such pretentious design. It is a very plain mug, of the type that is used in homes which are not equipped with modern facilities for the convenience of the inmates. In plain words, it's a "thundermug," with the team's name lavishly painted thereon, and putting up a brave appearance, unashamed of its lowly origin but betokening to the world that Canadians are "some team," ambitious to go forth next year and make another bid for the real cup.

CHAPTER X

Only a channel swimmer sunk by cramps in sight of his goal feels and looks as Ernest Bingley felt and looked when the butler broke the news to him that the Wyncoops were at the door.

"Are you sure they said 'Wyncoops'?" he asked.

"Oh, yes, sir," answered Crump. "It is a name one cannot easily forget."

Ernest turned to Lady Rosa.

"I'm very sorry," he said, "but I must ask you to excuse me for a moment. Some people are here to see me."

"Police?"

"No. Of course not. What makes you think that?"

"You've a very readable face, you know. It's your keepers, perhaps."

"Friends from back home," said Ernest.

"If you look like that when friends come to call, I'd hate to see your face when an enemy is announced," Rosa said. "Go along now, Ernest, and do your duty. I'll save a dance."

Ernest did not exactly spring toward the small reception room into which Crump had herded his visitors. A man who knows his goose has been not only cooked but made into hash and goose-soup has neither wings on his heels nor a song in his heart.

He knew, as all Bear Falls knew, that the Wyncoops had long and loudly talked of going abroad, she to visit Stamford-on-Avon and the Louvre, he to inspect French sausage foundries and the Moulin Rouge.

Ernest would have pictured her profits to stop by and side with him. Ernest could not see. All he could see was the ugly fact that there they were, an enemy within the gates, armed with javelins of spite, with which to prick his bubble. With a forced smile of welcome on his face, and black murder in his heart, Ernest marched in to inspect the apartment upstairs.

A mound of mink billowed toward him, his hand was given a high society shake and he heard a smiling Wyncoop coo in her most parkavacuous accents.

"My dear Ernest, how very nice to see you."

"Welcome to Bingley Castle," said Ernest, automatically, using the phrase with which he had greeted the hunt guests.

"You remember Mrs. Phelps, of course," said Mrs. Wyncoop.

The long mink in the room greeted Ernest in a manner which, for a Des Moines barker, was a warm and unfeigned cordiality.

"I had the honor," Mrs. Phelps reminded him, "of awarding you a prize at our State Fair."

As Ernest recalled the scene, her conduct on that momentous occasion suggested that she considered it less an honor than a bore; for, during the ceremony—which was hardly longer than a pause for station identification—she had gazed languidly over his head at the stuffed quail tableau, and had tapped yawns back into her small, superior mouth.

"Yes, yes, of course I remember you, Mrs. Phelps," Ernest said. "Welcome to Bingley Castle."

"So veddy, veddy kind of you," said Mrs. Phelps.

The meaty masculine hand of Otis G. Wyncoop closed on Ernest's.

"Well, well, Ernie, you ole horse-thief, how's the kid?" boomed Mr. Wyncoop, in a voice flavoured with friendliness and draught stout.

"Fine, thanks," said Ernest. "Welcome to Bingley Castle."

"You know my son, I think," said Mrs. Wyncoop, a bit superfluously Ernest thought, since she knew very well that he had known Mervin since he was a mottled and rather nasty baby.

"Hello, Mervin," said Ernest.

"Whose pants you got on, Ernie?" said Mervin.

"Manners, dear, manners," said Mrs. Wyncoop, with a smile of sweet approval. "You must excuse him, Ernie. The trip has upset him. He's so high-strung and delicate, you know."

"I ain't," said Mervin. "Got any mince pies in this dump?"

"No more pies to-day, dear," said his mother. "We've had too many already. I fear. Do sit down and be a good boy."

"Will you get me an air-gun?"

"Yes, dear, if you behave nicely."

Bribed, Mervin slouched to a corner and began to lick a slab of buttered toast.

"I was so veddy interested in your exhibit of our native fauna, Mr. Bingley," said Mrs. Phelps. "You do better work than most professional taxidermists."

Ernest mumbled "Thanks" and was trying to assimilate her remark, when she went on.

"A hobby is a great boon to a business man, as I often remarked to Mr. Phelps before he was taken away. When he came home from his bank or his plow works, tired out, it was to rest him so to play with his collection of birds' eggs. You must see them when next you are in Des Moines. They are in the Alonzo T. Phelps Memorial Museum of Art."

"I'd love to see them," said Ernest.

"And I should love to see your collection of lions, tigers and other big game. Dear Armina has been telling me about some of your adventures in Africa."

Her diction was clear. She was steady on her legs. She holds her liquor remarkably well, thought Ernest.

"You see, Ernest," put in Armina Wyncoop, and she seemed a trifle nervous, "we happened to cross on the same boat as Mrs. Phelps. At the ship's newspaper we saw the story about how you were staying here with your cousins. When I told Mrs. Phelps you were a dear old friend and that I was sure you'd feel hurt if we passed through England without staying with you a few days, she—that is—"

"You need not be tactful, Armina," inserted Mrs. Phelps. "I was not. I confess, Mr. Bingley," she said, turning on Ernest a smile full of pent-up and honey, "that when I heard Armina was going to visit at a castle I just up and tagged along as the boys say."

"I'm glad you did," said Ernest, and as he fitted this piece of information to the jigsaw puzzle it began to make a definite pattern.

"You see," continued Mrs. Phelps, "I'm on a pilgrimage—a literary pilgrimage. I've promised to read papers to my little group back home on the Chaucer Country, Tennyson, and Christmas Customs in Country Houses. So I'm afraid I wheedled and begged Armina until she invited me to come with her."

"It's a pleasure to have you here, I'm sure," said Ernest.

"You're a very naughty boy, Ernest," said Armina Wyncoop, wagging a finger at him, "not to tell any of your old friends that you've come in a title."

"I haven't," said Ernest.

"Modesty, modesty!" said Mrs. Wyncoop. "Being next in line to an earldom is practically the same thing."

Though not equipped with television, Ernest could now see quite vividly the scene on the boat. Two beaming figures in adjacent deckchairs—Mrs. Phelps cool to the advances of the aspiring Mrs. Wyncoop—then the timely discovery of the wireless dispatch about Ernest in the ship's paper—and Mrs. Wyncoop's improvised fable about her intimacy with Ernest—of course, he's dreadfully rich, my dear Mrs. Phelps, but very simple and unassuming. One would never think to look at him that he was a noted big game hunter, and heir to an earldom—and then the fatal boast—"Naturally, Ernest will expect us to pay him a visit at his castle." He saw the dowager of Des Moines thaw and begin her campaign to go to the castle, too—and he saw Armina, cornered, her bluff called, decide to brzen it out. It was a conspiracy, and they had made him part of it; but they had at the same time made themselves part of his.

The sound of music from the Great Hall came to their ears.

"Throwing a party, Ernie?" asked Otis G. Wyncoop.

"Why, yes—that is, the earl is holding a Hunt Ball," replied Ernest.

"Hot diggity!" exclaimed Mr. Wyncoop. "I feel like a party."

He saw Ernest's look of consternation, and went on.

"Oh, I won't go in these clothes. We got glad rags in our bags."

But it was not Mr. Wyncoop's costume that dismayed Ernest, dismayed through his suit of pea-soup green was the thought that Mr. Wyncoop, no Chesterfield when sober, was tight now and certain to get lighter, and, in his frisky state, he did not make a perfect playmate for dukes. His behavior, Ernest knew, tended toward the Falstaffian, his conversation became unrestrained and ribald; and he was quite capable of upsetting Ernest's appetite.

"Aren't you too tired for a party after your trip?" asked Ernest, feebly hopeful.

"Fresh as daisies," returned Wyncoop. "Just show us our room and in 20 minutes we'll be all dressed up like circus horses and ready to go to town."

Ernest found Crump and had a whispered conference with him.

"We'll have to put the young gentleman in the you-know-room," the butler said.

"Fine," said Ernest. "Do so—and notify the ghost."

"Very good, sir. Are they staying long?"

"I'm afraid so," said Ernest.

Ernest wore his troubled brow to the Great Hall, sequestered the earl, and said,

"Some people I knew at home have turned up, sir, and I was wondering if you'd mind if—"

"More the merrier," said the earl at once. "Friends of yours are friends of mine."

"That's very kind of you."

"Hair- tonic!" retorted the earl. "Join me in a beaker of bubbly?"

"No thank you."

"You look as if you needed a buck-up."

"No champagne, thank you," said Ernest.

"One less for you is one more for me," said the earl, and drank both glasses.

Ernest himself executed a rumba with Lady Rosa, and did not it at all badly considering that he had learned it my mall.

Murdering Old Times

Real Music Lovers Resent Swing For Favorite Songs

Robert Quillen, the newspaper paragrapher, gives it as his opinion that "swing music," the new dance measure, is really a primitive method of murdering horse thieves, but now used only to murder the old times.

There will be a lot of agreement with this view.

"Why, if something isn't done they'll be swinging the National Anthem," said the manager of a Detroit radio station. "Some things are all right for swing, but not the songs my mother used to sing!"—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Although Iquitos, Peru, is over 2,000 miles up the Amazon river, it is visited regularly by ocean-going vessels.

When the red deer of England develops 12 points on his antlers, he automatically becomes a "royal stag."

Turner Valley Oil Field

Drilling Is Being Hastened Along On More Than Thirty New Locations

Spring comes early to Turner Valley—the rolling foothills country of the Rockies, where a new oil development frontier is in the making.

Among the scores of giant derricks huge fiery gas flares, burning more than 200,000,000 cubic feet of waste gas a day, create an artificial warmth around the wells to bring Spring flowers in full bloom long before they appear on the farm and rangeland.

The giant flares, which soon may disappear, burn day and night, lighting a path of red across the sky that may be seen in Calgary, 45 miles northward.

A conservation board is to be appointed by the Alberta Government to save gas waste.

To-day the south field, where the new boom towns of Little Chicago and Little New York are located, is attracting attention of oilmen.

When the first crude well roared in June, 1933, it marked a new south field, and to-day 40 crude producers are in production, held down by a 42 per cent. production schedule, while producers work to create greater markets for Alberta's oil.

The drilling continues day and night on new well locations. More than 30 "rigs" are in operation. More wells will be "spudded" as the Spring program of developments gets under way.

Turner Valley wells are "deep holes," many more than a mile in depth. Drilling costs range from $175,000 to $212,000 a well. In the East Texas and Oklahoma fields in the United States, a 7,000-foot well can be drilled for about $35,000.

Last year $10,000,000 was spent in the valley, it has been estimated. This year it may be greater.

A Good Definition

Negro Clergyman Was Sure About Meaning Of Eternity

A negro clergyman in one of his sermons, exclaimed to his hearers: "Eternity, why don't you know the meaning of that word? It is for ever and ever, and five or six everlasting a-top of that. You might place a row of figures from here to sunset and add them all up and it wouldn't begin to tell how many ages long Eternity is. Why, my friends, after millions and trillions of years had rolled away into Eternity, it would still be a hundred thousand years to breakfast time."

Faulty Architecture

"I like your fire hall," remarked the visitor. "Oh," replied the citizen with some embarrassment, "that's our church."

The conversation, which might have taken place in any of a dozen towns, points to one of our conspicuous failings in the past. We have not realized that certain types of church are appropriate and that others are not, states The New Outlook.

Jones: "Why! Brown, your wife has a voice as sweet as velvet."

Brown: "Hush, or she will want a dries to match it!"

London has started a new campaign to solve the soot-pollution problem.

Provide For Old Age

New Zealand's Health And Superannuation Plan

The New Zealand government's long heralded national health and superannuation scheme has been outlined by Prime Minister Michael Savage.

The superannuation benefit under the plan will be 30 shillings ($6) weekly payable to men and women at the age of 60, including both husband and wife. An income from other sources of £1 a week will be allowed.

The plan includes universal free medical and hospital services, maintenance payment for unemployed, increases in miners' widows', war veterans' and invalidity pensions and in family allowances; the institution of incapacity benefits and of orphan's pensions.

The present emergency unemployment wages tax of eight pence in the pound will be abolished and will be replaced by a social service charge of one shilling in the pound which the government will subsidize pound for pound. The proposed scheme will commence April 1, 1939.

Oil In Palestine

Will Be Likely Source Of Supply For British Empire

Development of Palestine's bituminous limestone deposits as a source of oil supply for the British Empire, in event of emergency is under consideration by a group of financiers in Jerusalem.

At least 200,000,000 tons of bituminous limestone are available in the lower Judean hills, east of Jerusalem, and in the vicinity of Safad and Tarsish in Northern Palestine.

Experts estimate that, given an oil content of between 5 and 25 per cent., the deposits would be sufficient to satisfy Palestine's internal oil demands for a century. At the same time they would become the nearest Empire source of supply for the United Kingdom and prove a safeguard if the oil pipelines from Iraq to the Mediterranean were put out of action.

Promising discoveries are reported to have been made near Gaza by the Iraq Petroleum Company, which has applied for extensive concessions in the area.

It Could Be Done

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for some longheaded and altruistic manufacturer, instead of marring the landscape with signboards, to take over a hundred or so sections of barren public highway, plant them with trees and shrubs, and maintain the planting? A modest sign would give him credit. Instead of billboards he would employ gardeners. Instead of ugliness he would create beauty for the weary roadside pilgrim.—House & Garden.

There are few families left who are so far behind the times that they still enjoy the simple things of life.

No Pupils For School

Teacher Reports For Duty And Then Sews Or Knits

Her six pupils have gone, but the teacher fingers on in the tiny Canadice Hill School, near Springwater, New York.

Spring moving time is blamed for the dilemma in which the district finds itself. Miss Margaret Welch of Webster reports at the school daily and goes through the motions of ringing the school bell and calling her absent class to order. Then she sits down to pass her time in sewing or knitting.

The school was opened last fall with six pupils, representing three families. Removal of these families and others from the district also has resulted in the appointment of three different trustees.

Is Now Compulsory

Careful driving is compulsory in London. During the year ended November 30, 1937, 19,803 driving licences in London were endorsed for motoring offences, six people were disqualified from driving for life, and 2,099 were disqualified for varying periods. Of these cases 15,548 were for excessive speed and 1,821 for careless driving.

WHEN NEWSPAPERS DO FAVORS

We have often reflected upon the shyness of people to thank editors for the favors which newspapers do them. Individuals and organizations are constantly asking for publicity to assist them in promoting various kinds of worthy causes. Space is the only commodity aside from circulation which publishers have to sell, and this is a fact which too many seem to forget.

Some are even critical of the favorable notices which we give them and their projects. A still greater number forget to make any acknowledgment of the courtesy extended to them.—Cranbrook Courier.

"There is a great beauty in going through life fearlessly. Half our fears are baseless, the other half discredited."—Bovee.

Local News

The interior of the town hall is being given a spring cleaning.

Rev. and Mrs. Upton, of Bellevue, were Calgary visitors for a few days recently.

All the lies are not told by fishermen and tardy husbands. Many of them are chiselled upon tombstones.

Mrs. Michael Brennan and Mrs. Tom Brennan were among those from Coleman who attended the Allan Cup final games.

Miss Eleanor Neilson, who for several weeks has been relieving nurse in Michel hospital, returned to her home here this week.

The White Lunch has been re-decorated throughout, making it very much more attractive. Further work is to be done to improve it, states Mrs. Cady, proprietress.

Students returning for the summer vacation from Alberta University this week were Alwyn Haysom, of the Pharmacy class; Joe D'Andrea and Bill Burrows, also of the Pharmacy class.

Mrs. Frank H. Graham entertained on Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. A. S. Partington. Each lady worked a tea-towel while at the tea, and these were presented to the guest of honor, for which she expressed her thanks for the kindness.

It is expected that one of the largest attendances in recent years will be seen at the dance to be held in the Community hall on May 18, when Mart Kenney and his famous Western Gentlemen will play. Miss Georgia Day is the vocalist with the party.

Page Mr. Duke, M.L.A. for Rocky Mountain, and Mr. Taylor, M.L.A. for Pincher Creek, to urge unceasingly that automobile license fees and gasoline taxes collected from the towns in this district be spent on surfacing the highway. It's action that is wanted, not promises and smooth evasions.

Going Up!

By Jane Dee

UPI! UPI! UPI! That's how skirts are going to achieve that pert Paris-like chic that is so necessary if you want to be smart this Spring. Hemlines are definitely on the rise and if you consider yourself up-to-date, you must shorten your skirts.

Look at the smart new suits; the coats are longer and the skirts shorter—at the dressy Spring coats cut with a flare at the bottom and much shorter—and the frocks, smart and youthful in the new shorter lengths. Since skirts have gone UP, think your hosiery has become. Do you know the newest shades for Spring and with which colors to wear them?

Of course, there are several important things to be considered. First your height,—secondly, your figure,—and then the shape of the calves. These are features that play an important part in the length of your skirt. If you are in doubt as to what length your suit, coat, or Spring frock should be, just write to me. I'll be glad to solve the problem because I know you'll want to have your skirt the proper length when the Spring Fashion trend is UP.
